New Year, New Tunes

Hello everyone and welcome back! We hope that you've had a wonderful Christmas break and had a great entry into 2018! There's plenty of exciting things in store for 2018 at MIO including our Office Choir of the Year Competition, a new String Club, SongWriting Club, and some Big Sing Summer events with the Culture Mile and ABRSM. Don't forget to check out the upcoming dates for your diary.

Christmas Recap

The festive season is always a busy time for us at MIO with lots of concerts and performances. Our choirs joined in Christmas with the Stars and performed at the Albert Hall, we had some singalong workshops in atriums including in the AlphaBeta Building, Enotria, Deloitte Digital, the Daily Telegraph and our seasonal end of term concerts for choirs and instrumentalists.

Congratulations to our Christmas 2017 competition winner Sasha Clark who won four tickets to our end of term choir concert. Keep reading for this terms competition - maybe you could be the next winner!

What Are Our Teachers and Conductors Up To?

At MIO we are very fortunate to have some of London's best musicians working for us and we thought that it would be nice to share what they do outside of teaching you wonderful people. You can also visit our tutors and conductors pages to read more about them.

Laura Rickard, one of our violin teachers will be launching her very own music festival in April 2018. It will be held in Romsey, Hampshire, the town where she grew up. Many talented musicians will be performing various chamber music pieces over the four day festival alongside taking part in school workshops. Tickets are on sale from 27th January at www.romseychambermusic.com.

Or why not check out a collaboration ensemble led by James Taylor and Eleanor Rastall at Norton Rose Fulbright on 12th March 2018 at 7pm to learn how the voice and the drums can come together.

If you'd rather listen to the harmonious sounds chamber music, click here to download the latest recording of 'Jacob Obrecht - Missa Grecorum and Moets' by Brabant Ensemble featuring David Condry, one of our singing and piano teachers at MIO.

Fancy taking part in a 40 voice choir performance of Bach's Magnificat and Vivaldi's Gloria? Join Tori Longdon, one of our conductors, who will be organising a once in a lifetime experience for you to join in. For more information please email: hanoverchoir1@gmail.com, be quick as there is a 20% off offer on at the moment for MIO members!
