Instrumental Tuition

Whether your employees are already accomplished musicians or aspiring amateurs, we tailor our tuition to meet individual needs. We offer lessons for any instrument, from the most popular such as piano or guitar to the obscure - ever heard of the Cretan Lyra?

Many of our clients who offer music lessons as a benefit to their employees, find their employees are happier and more productive in their work.

Jason Milner, Systems Manager Engineer at Linklaters expressed - “A big part of my role is the analysis and resolution of technical challenges. I’ve found that my music lessons leave me feeling refreshed and inspired which really does help me to provide creative solutions to the issues of the day.”

Case study: Herbert Smith Freehills

HSF began offering music lessons to their employees as a benefit in their office in 2012 and currently have an average of 30 pupils taking weekly music lessons from piano to trombone. As well as offering music lessons to their employees, HSF have a vibrant choir who perform at both internal and external events.

“MIO has enabled me to rediscover my love of singing and has given me the confidence to push myself to improve week on week. I always look forward to my lessons with Eleanor which are thoroughly enjoyable and are a highlight of my week!”

Lissa Bankoley, Legal Assistant, HSF

Case study: Norton Rose Fulbright

Norton Rose Fulbright began offering music lessons to their employees in 2008. They subsidise lessons by 50% and 40 pupils have weekly lessons. They have just invested in their very own drum kit which will facilitate for activities such as happy hours, team building, jam sessions and other social events.

“Music in Offices has provided us with a highly motivating and valuable musical initiative which has boosted staff morale and supported the development of effective community and corporate relationships”

Peter Martyr, CEO Norton Rose Fulbright

Being our longest standing client, Norton Rose Fulbright have played an integral part in changing the way that other law firms operate their employee benefits by creating space for music at work to be more common place.

Further Testimonials

“Nothing has given me more joy since moving to London two years ago, than taking up the piano with Music in Offices.”

David Lowry, Credit Analyst, Macquarie

“Knowing that I have that hour each week, where I can escape into the music, has had a profound impact on me. I come away from each session feeling uplifted and ready to tackle anything that is thrown my way.”

Lauren Birney, UK Change, SEI

“I really enjoy my singing lessons with Music in Offices. They are energising and help to develop positive wellbeing. Each week I learn more and I certainly listen with greater knowledge and appreciation to other people singing.”
